Introductory Rates

Is there an introductory APR for Purchases? If yes, what is the rate? How long does rate last?

See Appendix # 1: Introductory rates on purchases

Is there an introductory APR for Cash Advances? If yes, what is the rate? How long does rate last?

Only one surveyed institution, Bank of America, offered an introductory rate on cash advances—but not on ATM or teller cash advances. The offer applies to convenience checks or direct deposit cash advances arranged with the issuer.

This offer, available on the three Bank of America cards surveyed, was Zero% APR for 1 year (12 billing cycles).

Is there an introductory APR for Balance Transfers for this card? If yes, what is the rate? How long does rate last?

See Appendix # 2: Introductory rates for balance transfers

What is the Balance Transfer fee? (May vary by card from a given issuer)

No fees — 5 cards (American Express Clear Card, Digital FCU, First Command Bank, Navy FCU Mastercard goRewards Card, Pulaski Bank and Trust)

No answer obtained: Addison Avenue FCU, American Airlines FCU, Arkansas National Bank, Simmons First

3% fee — 11 issuers (American Express, Bank of America, Capital One, Chase, Citi, Discover, Everbank, HSBC Bank, US Bank, Washington Mutual, Wells Fargo)

2% fee - 1 issuer: Golden1 FCU

1% fee - 1 issuers: Pentagon Federal Credit Union

What are the minimum and maximum balance transfer fees?

On surveyed cards with balance transfer fees that also had minimums or maximum fees, the range of fees is:

• Minimum fees ranged from $2 (Golden 1 FCU Visa Platinum Reward)-$15 (HSBC GM Flexible Earnings Card)
• Maximum fees ranged from $50 (Everbank, Golden1 FCU Visa Platinum Reward, Arkansas National Bank) to $250 (Citi Diamond Preferred Rewards)

Are balance transfer fees waived during the promotion?

For new customers (typically for a balance transfer made at the time of application or in the first 90 days) the balance transfer fees would be waived on three surveyed cards:

- American Express Optima Platinum (3.00% fee/$5 min./No max.)
- Golden 1 FCU Visa Platinum Rewards Card (2.00% fee/$2 min./$50 max.)
- Wells Fargo Cash Back Card (3.00% fee/$5 min./$75 max.)

Are there any conditions I need to meet to keep the lower rate? If yes, explain.

9 (41%) issuers provided responses to this question:

1. American Express: If minimum balance is not paid, promotional APR will terminate.
2. Bank of America: Exceed credit limit, late with payment
3. Citi: may increase if you default under any cardmember agreement you have with us because you pay late, go over credit limit, or have a returned check.
4. Discover: late payment
5. HSBC Bank USA: failure to pay on time, exceeding credit limit
6. Pulaski Bank and Trust: don’t miss a single payment
7. US Bank: minimum payment not received by due date, account exceeds credit limit, close account
8. Washington Mutual: Pay on time; keep account within credit limits; do not pay with a check; that will be returned for insufficient funds.
9. Wells Fargo: If minimum payment is not received for 2 consecutive billing periods.

SECTION 4: Rewards

Is this a Reward Card? (Miles, cash, etc.) Please explain the reward. What are the limits, caps, restrictions on rewards on this card? Are there any other special features about this card?

Of the 41 surveyed cards:

- 13 offered no reward (31.71%)
- 28 offered rewards (68.29%)
Of the 28 rewards cards:

• 16 offered hybrid awards (“cash back” on purchases, travel, merchandise credits, etc.)
• 8 offered “cash back” on purchases
• 3 offered travel rewards
• 1 offered a vehicle rebate (HSBC’s GM Flexible Earnings Card)

For a listing of all rewards cards, see Appendix #3.

SECTION 5: Default Rates

Is there a default rate on this card? (By institution)

19 - Yes
3– No (First Command Bank, Navy FCU, Pentagon FCU)

Is there more than one default rate on this card? (By institution)

3 - Yes and No (depending on card) American Express, Discover and HSBC
1 – Yes (Everbank)
18 - No

What is the highest default rate? (By cards)

Highest: 31.99% (HSBC) - Lowest: 15.25% (Simmons)
Average: 26.87% (38 cards)

3- No default rate: First Command Bank, Navy FCU, Pentagon FCU

Are your penalty rates APR fixed or variable? 55. If variable, what index is the rate tied to?

11 cards have fixed default rates
27 cards have variable rates. All are tied to the Prime Rate index (except Arkansas National* which was based on the Arkansas usury cap.)
3 cards have no default rate

If variable, what’s the margin for the highest default rate?

Prime + 23.99% (Chase, Citi, HSBC, US Bank, WaMu) At the time of the survey, Prime varied from 7.25>5.25%.
What would cause you to raise my rate to the default rate?

- Addison Avenue FCU: One late payment
- American Airlines-FCU: One late payment; Two or more late payments
- American Express: One late payment or two or more late payments; over limit three or more times; Returned payment (bounced check) (all apply within a 12 month period)
- Bank of America: One late payment; Going over limit
- Capital One: Two or more late payments within 12 billing cycles
- Chase: One late payment; Returned payment (bounced check); Going over limit
- Citi: Returned payment (bounced check); Going over limit; One late payment

- Washington Mutual: One late payment; Going over limit; Returned payment (bounced check)
- Wells Fargo: Two or more late payments; Going over limit

No answer provided: Arkansas National Bank*, Navy FCU

Is there anything else I might do that might cause me to be in default?

Addison Avenue FCU
- Fail to live up to terms of agreement and disclosure statement.
- Credit worthiness is impaired
- Die, become insolvent or subject to bankruptcy

Digital FCU
- failure to adhere to terms of agreement
- Credit worthiness impaired
- Death, become insolvent, or bankruptcy
- Default in other loans with the bank.
- Misrepresentation in loan application

Pentagon FCU
- Illegal use of card
• Death/Incompetent
• insolvent or file bankruptcy

Is the default rate tied to a certain number of late payments? (For example, after one late payment, rate jumps to __%; after two late payments, rate jumps to __%.)

• American Express is the only surveyed institution that treated late payments this way:
  - 17.99% for one late payment
  - 26.99% for two or more late payments
  - Variable. (Prime Rate + 12.99% and 21.99%.)

Could I ever get back to my regular APR? (By issuer)

Note: Bank of America provided different answers on its American Express card than it did for its own card, so the total of all answers is 23.

14 – Yes (Addison Avenue FCU, American Airlines-FCU, Bank of America (Rewards American Express), Capital One, Chase, Citi, Digital FCU, Discover, Everbank, Simmons First, Pulaski Bank and Trust, Town North Bank, U.S. Bank, Wells Fargo)

2 – No (Bank of America; HSBC)

1 – Don’t Know (American Express)

6 – Not answered: Arkansas National Bank, First Command Bank, Golden1 FCU, Navy FCU, Pentagon FCU, Washington Mutual)

If I maintain a good payment record will you reduce my rate?

Same results as previous question except for American Express – Yes (Apparently American Express will reduce the rate after 12 months with no default triggers, but not return the cardholder to the original rate.)

If yes, how many on time consecutive payments will I need to make before you reduce my rate?

• 12 months: Addison Avenue FCU, American Express/Bank of America-American Express, Capital One
• 9 months: Discover
• 6 months: American Airlines-FCU, Chase, Citi, Digital FCU, Everbank, Pulaski Bank and Trust, Simmons First, Town North Bank, U.S. Bank, Wells Fargo
• When account is current: Pulaski Bank and Trust
Would you ever reduce my credit limit? (By issuer)

(Note: Sometimes this question is misinterpreted and the answer “if the customer requests it” is given. We don’t count these as “Yes” because we are trying to discover whether the credit limit would be reduced because of perceived customer risk.

6 – Yes (American Express, First Command, HSBC, US Bank, WaMu, Wells Fargo)
- American Express: Representative said: “By declines in credit rating on card or poor history”
- First Command: Website says “may adjust credit limit from time to time”
- US Bank: “If multiple payments are late.”
- WaMu “We conduct periodic account reviews to determine a customer’s evolving credit risk profile. Since this is a revolving line of unsecured credit, and theirs is a plethora of data that correlates a consumer’s increasing credit risk with actual charge-offs, we occasionally may reprice accounts to try and insulate the bank from that risk.
- Wells Fargo: “Credit score or if you’re late every month.”

1 - Don’t knows (Arkansas National*)

13 - No

2 - Not answered (Navy, Pentagon)

Note: Several of the banks that said NO this year (2008) told us in 2007 that they do reduce the credit limit because of perceived customer risk: Bank of America, Chase, Citi, Discover, EverBank. We believe that it is unlikely that they have changed their policies.

Other Fees

What is the late payment fee? (By card)

95% of all surveyed cards had late fees

Two cards had no late fees (American Express Clear Card and First Command Bank Platinum Card)

Average late fee overall on cards with late fees: $25.90
Overall late fee range on cards with late fees: $15-$39

11 cards had flat late fees:
- Range: $15 (Addison Avenue FCU, Golden 1 FCU) to $35 (HSBC Bank USA Cash or Fly Rewards)
- Average flat fee: $25.91
28 cards had tiered late fees tied to the balance:
Average of all tiered late fees: $25.89

7 cards had two tiers (American Express, Discover, US Bank and Washington Mutual cards) with an average late fee of $19.48:

- Low tier ranges: Balances from $200 (Washington Mutual) - $500 (US Bank); late fees from $19-$24 (US Bank).
  - Average low tier fee on cards with two tiers: $19.71.
- High tier ranges: Balances from $200 (Washington Mutual) to $500 (US Bank); late fees: $38 (American Express) - $39.
  - Average high tier fee on cards with two tiers: $38.71.

21 cards had three tiers with an average late fee across all tiers of $25.89.

- Low tier ranges: Balances from $100 to $250; late fees: $15-$20
  - Average low tier fee on cards with three tiers: $16.48
- Middle tier ranges: Balances up to $250 to $1,000 (Pulaski Bank, Wells Fargo); late fees: All $29.
  - Average middle tier fee on cards with three tiers: $21.75
- High tier ranges: Balances above: $250 to $1,000; late fees, $35 (Pulaski Bank) to $39 (all others)
  - Average high tier fee on cards with three tiers: $38.62

When will I be charged a late fee?

32 cards (78%) indicated the late fees would be charged immediately if the payment was not received by the due date.

2 cards with no late fees (Amex Clear and First Command Bank Platinum) indicated that no late fee would be assessed, however if a payment was not received for 30-60 days, the lateness would be reported on the cardholder’s credit report.

Capital One has a leniency period of 3 days after the due date in which no late fee is charged.

4 of the 5 surveyed credit unions (Addison Avenue FCU, Pentagon FCU, Golden 1 FCU, American Airlines-FCU) have leniency periods of 3-15 days after the due date in which no late fee is charged.

Would a late fee be charged if the due date falls on a Saturday or a holiday?

29 – “Yes”

7 – “No”
1. Everbank Ever Card Visa Platinum
2. Simmons First Visa Platinum Card
3. Washington Mutual Platinum Mastercard
4. American Express Clear
5. Pentagon FCU Visa Platinum Reward
6. Navy FCU MasterCard goRewards
7. First Command Bank Platinum

1 – No response could be obtained

4 – “Don’t know”

On the due date, at what time does my payment need to be there to avoid a late fee? (Specify Time and Time Zone: Example: 5 p.m. PT)

17 financial institutions answered the question. See Appendix #4 for a breakdown.

Cut-off times ranged from 1 p.m. CST (WaMu) to Midnight CT (US Bank). One of the issuers, Capital One, noted it does not assess a late fee until 3 days past the due date.

If I pay by Phone will I be charged a fee? If so, how much? (By institution)

12 institutions reported having a phone payment fee. (See Appendix #6) Fees ranged from $3 (Everbank) to $15 (Town North Bank, US Bank and Citi)

If I pay Online will I be charged a fee? If so, how much?

None of the surveyed cards had a fee to pay online (unless it is a “rush” or expedited payment, see next question).

Is there an expedited payment fee for payments by phone?

Chase ($14.95), Digital FCU ($10), Pulaski Bank and Trust ($10), Wells Fargo ($5-$10) and HSBC ($12.50) have fees for expedited payments by phone. (In some cases these may be the same fees charged for phone payments that are not last minute.)

Is there an expedited payment fee for payments online?

Chase ($14.95), Washington Mutual ($14.95) and HSBC ($12.50)

How many days before the due date does the expedited payment fee apply?

All institutions mentioned in previous questions allowed expedited payments to be made on the due date, except HSBC, which said that online payments made within 2 days of the due date will be charged the fee in order to be credited as on time.

What is the fee for being Over the Credit Limit? (By institution)

21 surveyed issuers (95%) have over limit fees

• Average over-limit fee among institutions with over-limit fees: $29.13

No fee: American Express Clear card (although Amex does charge over limit fees on its other cards of $35) and First Command Bank.

Flat fees: 19 institutions

• High fee: $39 – 5 institutions (Capital One, Chase, Citi, US Bank, Washington Mutual)
• Low fee: $10 – 2 institutions (Golden 1 FCU and Navy FCU)

• Bank of America $15<$500; $29, $500-$1000; $39>$1000
• Discover: $15<$500; $39>$500

What is the Returned Payment Fee? (By issuer) This fee is charged if your payment check to the credit card company bounces.

• 18 issuers (82%) had this fee.

• The average fee at issuers with a fee is $32.03.

• Issuers with no fee are: First Command Bank, Arkansas National Bank, Everbank, Golden 1 FCU

• Fees ranged from $20 (Addison Avenue FCU and Navy FCU) to $39 (Bank of America, Capital One, Chase, Citi, U.S. Bank, Washington Mutual)

Do you charge a fee if I buy something while in a foreign country? (These may be called foreign transaction fees or foreign currency conversion fees.) If yes, what is the fee? Does this amount include the 1% fee from MasterCard or VISA or is it just your bank fee?

Range: 1%-3%. (This includes—or is—Visa and MasterCard charge a fee of 1% of the purchase amount to convert purchases made in a foreign currency.)

Arkansas National Bank* and Capital One have no fee.

See Appendix #7 for details.

Do you charge this fee if I purchase items on line or by phone from a business in a foreign country?

13 – Yes. (American Airlines-FCU, Golden 1 FCU, Pentagon FCU, American Express, Pulaski Bank and Trust, Simmons First, Bank of America, Chase, Citi, Digital FCU, HSBC Bank, Town North Bank, U.S. Bank)

5 – No. (Addison Avenue FCU, Arkansas National Bank, Capital One, Discover, Wells Fargo)

Finance Charges

What balance calculation method do you use? (Financial institutions)

21 - Average Daily Balance Including New Purchases
1 – Two-cycle Average Daily Balance Including New Purchases (WaMu)

How do you calculate minimum monthly payment?

1. Addison Avenue FCU: 2% or $20, whichever is greater
2. American Airlines-FCU: 2% of balance

11. Wells Fargo: 1.00%, $15.00
12. HSBC Bank: 1.00%, $15.00
13. US Bank: 1.00%, $10.00
14. Simmons First: 1.00%
15. Bank of America: 1.00%
16. Citi: Percentage varies, $20.00
17. Town North Bank: Percentage varies
18. Everbank: Percentage varies
19. Discover: Percentage varies
20. American Express: Percentage varies
21. Washington Mutual: No answer obtained
22. Navy FCU: No answer obtained

Residual interest: If I had a balance for a couple months, but then paid it off in full, would you charge me any more interest in the following month on the balance I just paid in full?

5 – Yes (American Express, Capital One, Citi, Town North Bank, Wells Fargo)
3 – Not answered (Everbank, Navy FCU, Pentagon FCU)
14 – No (NOTE: This may not be trustworthy. In 2007 we found that these banks used the practice: American Express, Bank of America, Capital One, Chase, Citi, Commerce Bank, Everbank, Franklin Templeton Bank & Trust, HSBC and Pulaski Bank & Trust. Of those surveyed in 2008, we may conclude that Bank of America and Chase still employ the practice.)
Change of Terms

Can you increase my APR or change my terms “any time for any reason”? (Note: Answers based on 22 financial institutions.)

17 – Yes
3 – No (Arkansas National Bank*, Golden 1 FCU, Simmons First)
2 – Not answered (Everbank, Navy FCU)

If I pay my balance on time and in full every month, could you raise my interest rate? (Note: Answers based on 22 financial institutions.)

17 – Yes (Includes all Top Ten issuers, including Citi, which says it won’t do this in any given expiration period).
3 – No (Arkansas National Bank, Golden 1 FCU, Simmons First)
2 – Not answered (Everbank, Navy FCU)

Do you raise my interest rate because of my credit record with other credit cards or lenders? (This is sometimes called “universal default.”)

This question was designed to check if banks are doing Universal Default. We are not sure why Citi representatives answered yes to this question (on three cards) when Citi has a public policy of not changing the rates until the expiration date.

10 - Yes
American Airlines-FCU  HSBC Bank
Chase  Pentagon FCU
Citi  Pulaski Bank and Trust
Digital FCU  US Bank
Discover  Washington Mutual

2 – Not answered (Everbank, Navy FCU)
10- No

Addison Avenue FCU  First Command Bank
American Express  Golden 1 FCU
Arkansas National Bank  Simmons First
Bank of America  Town North Bank
Capital One  Wells Fargo

Which, if any, of the following situations might cause my interest rate to go up?

Only 8 of 22 institutions provided answers:
1. Addison Avenue FCU: Credit score got worse

2. American Airlines-FCU: Credit score got worse

3. Bank of America: Paying another company late. Defaults with other creditors, Credit score got worse, Too many credit cards, Too much debt, Too many inquiries on credit report, Market conditions

4. Capital One: Market conditions

5. Chase: Defaults with other creditors, Too much debt, Too many credit cards, Defaults with other creditors, Paying another company late, Credit score got worse

6. Citi: Credit score got worse, Market conditions (This may be interpreted as the reasons they use for any changes at the point the card expires.)

7. Digital FCU: Credit score got worse, Too many inquiries on credit report, Too much debt, Too many credit cards, Paying another company late, Defaults with other creditors

8. Discover: Paying another company late, Defaults with other creditors, Credit score got worse, Too many credit cards, Too much debt, Too many inquiries on credit report

Are there any other reasons why my rate might go up?

(Answered by 5 out of 22 institutions)

1. Bank of America: Business strategies, market conditions
2. Chase: APRs may change to higher APRs, Fixed APRs may change to variable, APRs may change to fixed APRs.
3. Digital FCU: Based on credit score, debt to income ratio
4. HSBC Bank USA: APR changes
5. Wells Fargo: Only default payments will cause rate to go up.

How would you let me know if you applied a different rate to my account? (By issuer)

14 – Send a letter
1 – Send a letter or a bill stuffer (American Express)
1 – We wouldn’t tell you. (American Airlines FCU)
6 – No answer

Could I ever get back to my regular APR?
What do I have to do to get back to the lower rate?

8 banks answered the question.

1. Addison Avenue FCU: 1 year of good record, ask for it.
2. American Express: Based on credit; call in and request
3. Capital One: Would go over account with person
4. Chase: Have to speak with customer service, depends on account history
5. Pulaski Bank and Trust: Have to ask, request has to be made to customer service
6. Town North Bank: Ask for review of credit history
7. US Bank: Call in and inquire to customer service department

Would you notify me before the rate goes into effect?

16 institutions said “Yes”
1 institution said “No” (American Airlines FCU)
5 – No answers

If I don’t agree to the new rate what are my rights?

7 – No answer

10 - Close Account

1. Addison Avenue FCU
2. American Airlines FCU
3. American Express
4. Bank of America
5. Digital FCU
6. Discover
7. First Command Bank
8. HSBC Bank
9. Pulaski Bank and Trust
10. Wells Fargo

When Opt Out is checked, please explain how the Opt Out works:
Close account and opt out (5 banks)

1. Capital One: Opt Out and Pay Off At Old Rate. Tell them you don’t want the card and pay at old rate.
2. Chase: Close Account/opt out. Call customer service; also said could opt out.
3. Citi: Close Account/Opt Out and Pay Off At Old Rate, Close the account. Pay remaining balance under the old rates, terms, and fees.
4. Town North Bank: Close Account. Can also opt out.
5. US Bank: Close Account or opt out. 25 days to opt out, then account would close and stay at that rate.

Miscellaneous Questions

AUTHORIZED USERS: What is the minimum age for an authorized user on this account?

No minimum age: (Any age can get an authorized user card.) American Airlines FCU, Bank of America, Capital One, Chase, Citi, Discover, Golden 1 FCU, Navy FCU, Simmons First, US Bank, Washington Mutual.

No answer could be obtained from Arkansas National Bank

First Command Bank: 14
American Express: 15
Pentagon FCU: 15
Town North Bank: 16
Addison Ave FCU: 16
EverBank: 18
Pulaski Bank & Trust: 18
Wells Fargo: 18
Digital FCU: 18
HSBC Bank USA: 18/No minimum age (both answers were given)

How often do you report my account information to credit reporting agencies?

This question was apparently misinterpreted by many representatives. The most common answer was monthly (23 out of 41 answers), however there were some quarterlys (5 cards) and a few “don’t knows” and “nevers,” (1 Chase and 1 Discover card) which would appear to be incorrect.

Do you report my balance AND credit limit to reporting agencies?

Overwhelming “yes” answers (32 of 41). Five “no answers.” Two “don’t knows.”
And two “Nos” (1 Chase card and 1 Discover card).

102. Do you require arbitration to settle disputes?

   27 – Yes
   7 – Not answered
   4 – No (Addison Avenue FCU; Discover,* Golden 1 FCU; Simmons First)

   *Discover: The Cardmember Agreement provides that we may choose to resolve a claim relating to your account by binding arbitration, in which case, you will not have the right to have that claim resolved by a judge or jury and you will not have the right to participate in a class action in court or arbitration. You may reject the arbitration provision with respect to your new account within 30 days after receiving your card. For restrictions and details, write to us at PO Box 15192, Wilmington, DE 19886-1020

   3 – Don’t know

* Note: Arkansas National Bank has closed since the survey was conducted.
